5 Cents A Copy
A Newspaper for every home containing news for Every Member of the Family

May 2, 1931 will go down in Sport history of Indianapolis as a day long to be remembered. And why not? For several years we have been a back number so far as the Negro National Baseball league is concerned.

With the passing of the late C. I. Taylor, one of the founders of the league, went the representation of Indianapolis A. B. C.'s, an Indianapolis institution of national note.

Indianapolis generally did not fully appreciate the full worth of the A. B. C.'s till they were gone. Every baseball lover has now been shown what it means to be without the A.'s playing league ball.

And, lest we forget, the pilot of our team will be Jim Taylor, brother of the fallen but never-to-be-forgotten C. I. Taylor.

Full Accounts Of All

He has assembled an aggregation of young athletes that Indianapolis may well be proud. Jim is beyond all doubt, one of the best known figures in the country. His years of playing and handling ball players have placed him in a position to know ability and develop talent when he sees it, in the Taylor fashion.

When the words "Play Ball" are sounded, May 2, at Washington Park, the Negro National League Baseball curtain will be officially raised to Indiana for the 1931 season. The Cubans will be here for a four-game series.

The Recorder will, throughout the season, carry detailed accounts of all league activities. You can follow the A.'s at home and away from home through the columns of The Recorder.

FIERY CROSS BURNS AS PAUL ROBESON SINGS

Hooded Crowd Attempt To Frighten Colored Resident Property Owner Out Of White District—Bricks Are Thrown Through Window.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 25. (ANP) Police here are investigating the burning of a fiery cross on the lawn of Mrs. E. Holcomb, here Thursday night, during the concert led by Paul Robeson, noted singer and actor, and participated in by more than 700 people.

It is believed that the burning of the cross was an attempt on the part of whites to intimidate Mrs. Holcomb and frighten her into selling her property, which is in a "white neighborhood." Simultaneously with the lighting of the torch two bricks were thrown through the window of the house.

Firemen and police were notified and the cross was extinguished and the investigation started. The affair, however, had no effect upon the five thousand people gathered at the community center to hear the concert. Some of them looked out of the window at the burning cross, and that was all.

Mrs. Holcomb stated that she has been threatened several times but that she intended to remain in the house which she bought recently and improved.

BISHOP HAYWOOD'S CHARACTER LAUDED BY CHRISTIAN WORKER WARNER LAWSON

PROMINENT CHRIST TEMPLE MEMBER SAYS DEPARTED PENTECOSTAL ASSEMBLIES EXECUTIVE HEAD WAS A SEEKER AFTER TRUTH—"WE LIKED TO CALL HIM BROTHER"

By MISS HILDA REEDER

"And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." Bishop Haywood (we liked to call him brother, for he was to us indeed a dear brother whom we loved) was a seeker after truth. And when he caught a glimpse of Him he hesitated not to leave all to pursue Him. He had ardent desires and ambitions pertaining to this world, but he laid them all aside that he might follow Him who said, "I am the way, the truth and the light." He realized that the truth is in Jesus Christ; so he sought to get as close to Him as possible. He shook himself free of the trammels of men to stand for the truth as he saw it.

Thousands Knew Him.

In his latter days thousands knew him and loved him for the blessed knowledge of the freedom of truth in Christ which he brought to them; but in the earlier days of his career the struggle was a bitter one. It was then that he learned to trust God for body, soul and spirit. Friends fell away. There were sneers, scoffings, jeers, and even worse,

Pres. Johnson Retained Is By Howard Univ.

WASHINGTON, April 25, (CNS) —Despite many protests for and against him, the board of trustees meeting at Howard University last Tuesday retained Dr. Mordecai Johnson as president of the University.

The board went into session early that morning and adjourned at 7:30 that night. Fifteen members were present. At the conclusion of the meeting Gen. John H. Sherrill, of Boston, Mass., president of the board, issued a statement on behalf of the trustees in which it was declared:

"The president of Howard University, in the five years he has filled the position, has shown a vision and a quality of leadership which can not be excelled.

The trustees believe they have found in him a man capable of leading Howard University to its goal, an institution of learning second to none, dedicated to the mental and spiritual advancement of Negro Americans.

Certain statements have appeared in the public press which would seem to question the patriotism of the president of Howard University. The newspaper reports do not represent the opinions of the trustees and the education community at Howard.

The trustees of Howard University unhesitatingly affirm their faith in our president's loyalty to the American Government and to the principles on which it is founded. He is carrying forward that work of thoughtful patriotism and service has characterized Howard University for 64 years and which it is the inflexible purpose of the board of trustees to continue.

It is hereby voted that a committee of three members of this board be appointed who shall investigate the origin of any contributing factors in these newspaper reports and that they return their findings to this board.

Identity of three members who shall make the investigation was not disclosed. Neither would members of the board, nor Dr. Johnson, make any comment beyond the formal statement issued by the board. The new trustees were elected in the course of the long meeting. They were Dr. Abram Flexner, former chairman of the general education board and George William Cook, former dean of the College of Commerce and Finance and secretary of the general alumni association. The latter was named as alumni trustee.

Disapproval recently expressed by Representative W. Wood, (Republican), of Indiana, chairman of the House appropriations committee, of purported statements by Dr. Johnson in the course of addresses failed to perturb the trustees, informal comments made after the meeting indicated.

Aside from the local Baptist Ministers' Conference and other organizations throughout the country, the student body at the University also took an active part in the fight for the retention of Dr. Johnson. Mass meetings were held on the campus and placards and posters placed around the grounds bearing the sign "Johnson for Howard and Howard for Johnson." Following the decision of the trustees the students built a huge bonfire on the campus which could be seen from sections of the city.

HONORS BEFITTING NATION'S HEAD ACCORDED HAYWOOD AT BURIAL

DEPARTED PENTECOSTAL ASSEMBLIES' BISHOP DESCRIBED IN LAST RITES SERMON—EULOGIES AS "LIVING EXAMPLE WE SHALL NOT FORGET"—HUNDREDS OF FORMER CHURCH ASSOCIATES FLOCK TO FUNERAL SERVICES FROM EVERYWHERE—CHURCH PACKED; GROUNDS OVERFLOWED.

By GABRIEL STANLEY

The funeral services as conducted Thursday afternoon of last week for Bishop Garfield T. Haywood, Presiding Bishop of the Pentecostal Assemblies almost since its inception in 1917, involved a program with features befitting the deceased head of a nation.

Never in the history of the city of Indianapolis has there been a funeral that attracted so tremendously large an attendance of mourning friends, church workers and former associates of the dead. Co-workers and admirers of the beloved churchman came from far and wide throughout the city, state and nation to pay their last respects to the memory of a departed servant of the Christian ministry and of humanity.

Church Grounds Overflowed

Roughly speaking, there were upwards of one thousand five hundred automobiles parked around Fall Creek Boulevard from Twenty-Third Street, deep into Indianapolis and Northwestern Avenues while their thousands of human cargo with bare heads mingled with the silent throng on the church grounds and inside of Christ Temple as a last tribute to the memory of the departed spiritual leader who had played his part so infinitely well.

Packing the church to its utmost capacity, the milling thousands which began to gather at the Temple for the services as early as 7 a. m., overflowed the church grounds far into the Boulevard to a near traffic-blocking point.

Among the parked automobiles were many hundreds bearing licences from every major city in Indiana, the United States and Canada. The machines, which were of all models expensive as well as far less costly ones, were parked double just opposite the Temple on Fall Creek Boulevard.

Swelling the overflow crowd were an unusually large number of white citizens, local and out-of-town adherents of the Pentecostal movement. All listened with bowed heads and hushed reverence to the soul-stirring hymnal renditions of Christ Temple choir, the heartfelt eulogies from the lips of numerous prominent church dignitaries and Bishop Hancock's well-chosen funeral sermon as wafted by an amplifier from the rostrum of Christ Temple, to the profoundly impressed sea of humanity on the outside.

Among the renditions of the choir were "My City," "Washed In The Blood," "We Will Walk Through The Streets of That City," and "Face To Face." All composed and arranged by Bishop Haywood. Irresistibly Liable Characteristics

The high esteem in which Bishop Haywood was held, was not by any means confined to the churchman's many immediate followers. To a miration for the Pentecostal Assemblies' executive was also a deep seated one in the hearts of thousands of members of other Christian denominations and citizens without any church affiliations whatever. His was a disposition of irresistibly likable characteristics. Bishop Haywood was a man who everybody was always happy to know. He was an unassuming cultivator of friendships which all during his life he was able to keep. This undeniable fact was manifested in no uncertain manner, when, following Bishop Haywood's passing to the great beyond his bereaved family was literally swamped with telegrams and letters of condolence from seemingly everywhere throughout the United States, the Dominion of Canada and other countries of the world.

Sermon Touching

The funeral sermon as preached by Bishop S. N. Hancock, of the Bethlehem Temple, Detroit, Mich., was a fitting embodiment of pathos, heart-felt expressions of sympathy for the surviving widow and family of deceased and impressively references to the many high qualities of the departed leader and life-long friend of the church work.

The Detroit churchman, noticeably deeply affected by the significance of the sacred duty he was called upon to perform, chose for his sermon the 69th chapter of Psalms, 6 to 11 verses.

"Let not them that wait on thee O Lord God of Host, be ashamed for my sake, let not those that seek thee be confounded for my sake O God of Israel. Because for thy sake I have borne reproach; shame hath covered my face. I am become stranger unto my brethren, and an alien unto my mother's children. For the zeal of thine house hath eaten me up. And the reproaches of them that reproached thee are fallen upon me. When I wept and chastened my soul with fasting that was to my reproach. I made sackcloth also my garment. And I became a proverb to them.

And likewise in St. Mark Gospel, 8:13: "And he began to teach them that the sons of man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the elders, and of the chief priests, and scribes, and be killed, and after three days rise again. And he spoke that saying openly. And Peter took him and began to rebuke him. But when he had turned about and looked at his disciples, he rebuked Peter saying, Get thee behind me, Satan: for thou savorest not things that be of God, but things that be of men."

Wanted To Go Home

Certain of Bishop Haywood's statements made to him immediately after he returned home from Jamaica "seemed," said Bishop Hancock "to bring these words in to my mind. The zeal of the Lord hath consumed me."

In the course of his sermon, the Pentecostal churchman quoted Bishop Haywood as having declared during his illness that "somebody must care for my children. My work must go on. I have lived the life. I have been true to God. I have done all I could do for Him; and now I am tired and weary and want to go home."

ACTRESS WANTS DIVORCE FROM NEGRO HUSBAND

Former Helen Worthing Accuses Dr. Eugene Nelson Of Jealousy And Cruelty And Threats To Have Her Confined To Institution.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 24.—Helen Lee Worthing Nelson, white, talented stage and screen actress, who once was described by Harrison Fisher, the artist as possessing the most beautiful profile in America has filed suit to divorce her Negro husband, Dr. Eugene C. Nelson.

The former Follies and screen beauty petition filed Tuesday charges jealousy cruelty and threats to have her confined to some institution.

The strange romance between the famous actress and her physician husband ended with a separation last April when the doctor and his white wife were found living together in the colored section of Los Angeles.

Married in Mexico, 1927.

They were married in Tia Juana, Mexico, June 28, 1927.

The beautiful blond actress charged Dr. Nelson with extreme cruelty ever since their marriage. She said that he repeatedly accused her of "being crazy," with the statement that she should be confined to an insane asylum.

The actress set forth that on March 1 of this year Dr. Nelson compelled her to enter a sanitarium at Madison, Wis., for a non-existent mental ailment.

Mrs. Nelson stated that she had suffered "physical pain and unspeakable humiliation" because of her husband's treatment and that she was seriously ill and in need of medical attention.

Almost continually since the complaint, Dr. Nelson accused her of clandestine meetings with other men, once naming a 16-year-old boy. Despite these accusations, the actress declared her husband continually, and with attempted secrecy associated with other women.

When the marriage of the actress and Dr. Nelson first became known she said she did not know that he was a Negro when they were married. Dr. Nelson's skin is of a light hue and except for a few Negro characteristics he appears to be of the white race.

The actress said at the time however, that she loved "my doctor" and that inasmuch as they were married and happy there was no reason to separate.

This year's campaign is expected to be larger and better. Six schools are participating in the contest and any mother in the city may enter her yard. Twenty-one prizes will be given, 3 to each of the schools, and 3 to the mothers. ### To Make District Sanitary

The ultimate aim of the promoters of the Campaign and Contest is to rid the Central District of all unsanitary conditions. The opinion of the committee was that before appealing to the City Council for an enforcement of the ordinance relative to sanitary flush toilets, the people of the neighborhood should be given an opportunity to put things in order.

Among the prominent citizens who are taking part in the cleanup campaign and contest are: Harry Willet, chairman of the prize committee; Mrs. Mary Cable of School No. 4; Mathias Nolox, of school No. 17; W. E. Baugh, of school No. 23; W. E. Grubbs, of school No. 24; H. M. Riley of school No. 40, and Mrs. Jeanette Carey of school No. 63.

Winners must have all hazzards-fire or health-removed from their yards or reported at their schools.

Three prizes will be given to each school for awards to the children.

Principals of schools are being asked by the management of the drive to report to the Flanner House at once all unsanitary conditions, such as over-flowing vaults, cess-pools and fire hazzards. Any Automobile Mechanic Could Pull Your Tooth

Would you think of going to an automobile mechanic for tooth extraction? He has a wide assortment of pliers, screw-drivers, chains and whatnot with which he could really complete the job.

You would never consider doing that because of personal agony involved (with all respects to our many competent auto mechanics.) Yet, year after year, hundreds of private citizens and business concerns do suffer an untold amount of personal criticism and place themselves before the eyes of a critical public through the purchase of printing from any individual that might own an ancient printing press, a few fonts of worn out, out-of-date type, hammer, etc.

True enough these concerns can smear your job through at a saving. So could the mechanic pull your tooth for 25 cents and make money if he could get the volume.

But the dentist can't.

Just recently, one of our leading professional men men handed us a job of printing. There were seven-entente mistakes in the job he had just bought. He had used 500 of the forms making 8,500 mistakes he purchased and passed out under his name.

There is an art in printing as in other trades. Certain types for certain jobs.

The Indianapolis Recorder operates an up-to-date printing plant. The prices are cut to a minimum without sacrificing quality and workmanship. See us for that next order of printing.

Lockland, O., Valley Tigers Lose To A. B. C.'s

BINDER, A. B. C. SLUGGER GETS 3 TWO-BAGGERS IN OHIO GAME

BULLETIN

The A. B. C.'s are in St. Louis, Mo., where they will engage the St. Louis Stars, both entrants of N. N. L. The team was in high spirits when boarding the train for the "Show Me" state and expect to give the Missourians a taste of old style A. B. C. baseball.

LOCKLAND, Ohio, April 22.—Four infield errors combined with the wildness of Combs, starting hurler of the Valley Tigers, managed by "Dizzy" Dismukes, gave the Jim Taylor A. B. C.'s a 7 to 4 victory game of the season here Sunday.

The game was featured by the hitting of Womack, Kerner and Roberts for the locals and Binder for the A's. The A's scored in the second inning on singles by Harris, Lindsay and Lane, with a double by Russell sandwiched in between. Three bases on balls and an error by Smith and a single by Murray accounted for two additional runs in the fourth.

An error by Roberts, a base on balls, a single and two wild heaves to first by McCulloch to catch runners napping caused two runs in the sixth, while an error, a stolen base and Binder's third double of the afternoon accounted for the seventh and final Naptown run.

Taylor Gives List Of Signed Players—Two Local Stars In Line-up

The Indianapolis A. B. C.'s, entrants in the Negro National Baseball League, will wind up the Spring exhibition season Sunday in a game with the St. Louis Stars at St. Louis, Mo., also a N. N. L. team.

With several weeks of training behind them, during which time the A's have defeated some of the best semi-professional teams in the country, the local entrants are probably farther along in their conditioning than any club in the National loop. Notable among the games played by the A's are the 14 to 4 win over the Lexington (Ky.) nine, Sunday, April 5; a 7 to 2 victory over Dayton Marcos, Dayton, O., Sunday, April 12, and the 7 to 4 lacing handed the Lockland (O.) outfit last Sunday.

Manager Taylor said he would devote next week to practice in his final effort to give local fans a look at their regular lineup in tip-top shape.

Following Players Signed
Mitchell Murray, St. Louis, Mo., catcher, last year with the American Giants.
William Harris, St. Louis, Mo., catcher, last year with Red Sox.
Jimmie Crutchfield, Mobely, Mo., center field, last year with Birmingham Black Barons.
Chester Williams, Beaumont, Tex., short-stop, last year with Memphis Red Sox.
Herman Andrews, rightfielder, last year with Memphis Red Sox.
Andrews is a six-footer, very fast and bats either left or right, according to pitcher.

Pitching Staff
At present the task of fooling opposing sluggers will fall upon the five hurlers listed below:
Alto Lane, right hander, Lexington Hardhitters. Lane is eighteen years old, weighs 190 pounds and has the making of a wonderful pitcher.

John Alvis, right hander, Charles, Ky.
Robert Lindsay, southpaw, Dallas, Tex.
Buster Spann, right hander, Indianapolis. Spann has a large local following, having played semi-pro baseball with Jewell's A. B. C.'s and Lincoln Highways.

CUBAN HOUSE OF DAVID BASE BALL CLUB ADD 5 GAMES TO VICTORIES

PITCHER ELBERT WILLAMEZ CROWNS SELF WITH GLORY AGAINST THE SHREVEPORT BLACK SPORTS —PERFECT NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME CARRIES BEARDED BEAUTIES THROUGH TO 15-0 TRIUMPH

NORTH TARRYTOWN, N. Y., April 25.—The Colored Cuban House of David Baseball Club, under the exclusive booking management of Syd Pollock, North Tarrytown, N. Y., added five more games to their string of victories in the South, defeating Bernice (La.) 20 to 4; Monroe (La.) of the Texas-La. League 7 to 5; Shreveport (La.) of the same league two games, 12 to 3 and 15 to 0, and Tyler (Tex.) 4 to 2.

Most notable among these victories was the pitching achievement of Elbert Willamez, who crowned himself with glory against the Shreveport Black Sports in hurling a perfect no-hit, no-run ball game, to carry the "Bearded Beauties" through to a 15 to 0 victory. Battling Siki, slouted two home runs out of the park in this game, bringing his total number of circuit clouts to 11 for the season thus far, and the fans at the Texas League (white) park went wild over the hitting of Siki and exceptional pitching of Willamez.

The Cuban House of David play Campbell College at Jackson, Miss., Thursday; Friday is on open date; Saturday and Sunday appear at Montgomery, Ala.; and next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday officially open the season for the Birmingham Black Barons at Birmingham, Ala., after which they appear at Vincennes, Ind.; Decatur, Bloomington, Beardstons and Nokomis, Ill.; reaching St. Louis, Mo., on Saturday May 9th, where they opened a 4-day series with the World Champaign St. Louis Stars. Scores of last week's games:—

WHEN A NEGRO JOCKEY MAKES GOOD THE BOY HAS CLASS SAYS KREHBIEL

WRITER CALLS ATTENTION TO EXPLOITS OF R. SIMPSON WHO FORGED RAPIDLY TO THE FRONT RANK OF PROFESSIONAL RIDERS DURING WINTER RACING.

DETROIT, Mich., (CNS) April 25.—(By George Krehbiel)—Another great Negro Jockey appears to be about to take his place in turf history along side of Isaac Murphy, Pike Barnes, Willie Simms, J. Winkfield and others whose feats of horsemanship some 20 years ago were the talk of the turf world.

This year's winter racing has seen R. Simpson forge rapidly to the front rank of jockeys. Simpson is a Kentuckian. According to turfmen who have watched him perform he is a natural rider. He is alert at the barrier, gets his mount away winging and is a perfect judge of pace. He has been a consistent winner in the South throughout the winter.

Perhaps the Greatest
Of the old time Negro jockeys, Isaac Murphy was probably the best. He has the distinction of riding three Kentucky Derby winners, a record tied only by Earl Sande, and never excelled. He won the Derby with Buchanan, Riley and Kingman. Murphy also won four of the first five American Derbys on Modesty, Silver Cloud, Emperor of Norfolk and Volante. He was astride the winner of the first, third, fourth, fifth and ninth Latonia Derbys.

"Lonnie" Clayton, another great Negro jockey, won the Kentucky Derby in 1892 astride George J. Long's Azra.

Willie Simms rode two Derby winners. He piloted Ben Brush to victory in 1896 and won with J. E. Madden's Plaudit in 1898.

J. Winkfield also rode two Derby winners. They were his Eminence in 1901 and Alana-dale in 1902.

Monk Overton never rode a Derby winner, but he made a name for himself by riding six winners in a row at Washington Park on July 16, 1891.

A Grand Slam:—Jimmy Lee, a flashy jockey in his day came into prominence when under contract to Rome Respes, of Erlinger, Ky., he won the entire card of six races at Churchill Downs, on June 5, 1907.

The most recent of the Negro jockeys were Dale Austin and C. Dishman. Both have quit the saddle. Pike Barnes gained his reputation when he rode Proctor Knott to a victory over the great Salvatore in the first Futurity. He also won the Brooklyn Handicap on Tenny. Murphy, incidentally rode Salvatore when he defeated Tenny in the great match race of many years ago. Unless he is a super jockey, the Negro has little chance to enter the winner's circle, and the fact that he has stood up to the pace means that Simpson has enough class to be ranked with those of his race who made turf history.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 24. (ANP) The entire Morgan College Athletic Squad consisting of those who were instrumental in bringing three championship teams to Morgan including track, football, and basketball this season, were banquetted last Saturday by the Tri-Sport Banquet Committee, The Afro-American, alumni and citizens, at the Majestic Hotel.

PRIZE FIGHTER IS SHOT DEAD IN NIGHT CLUB

CHICAGO, April 25. (ANP) Jas. "Buster" Oliver, a former prize fighter, was shot to death here early Saturday morning in the Panama Inn by John Wooley, manager of the night club.

Some twenty-five patrons were in the club at the time of the killing, but few could tell just how the row started. Wooley claimed that Oliver, who was at one time employed at the club as a bouncer, had threatened him and when Oliver came in Friday morning he attempted to carry out the threat.

To save his own life, Wooley said he shot Oliver, who was drawing his gun when shot. Conflicting testimony was given at the inquest by witnesses. Some of them declared that Oliver was unarmed and it is believed by the police that the gun found near the dead man's body was planted there.

"Singin' The Blues" Pleases Brooklyn

NEW YORK, April 24. (ANP) When "Singin' The Blues" opened in Brooklyn last week, critics were loud in their praise of work. With an unusual story for an all colored show, "Singin' The Blues" made a very favorable impression. Frank Wilson of "Porgy" fame, Mantan Moreland, late "Blackbirds" star, Freddie Washington, former dancing partner of Al Moore, and her sister, Isabelle Washington, starred in "Harlem" in the big cast while sang and danced its way in to the hearts of Brooklynites.

LESIE'S NEW SHOW IS A BIG SUCCESS

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 25. (ANP) Whatever may be said of Lesie's faults, resilience as demonstrated in his ability to "come back" is his outstanding virtue. After all, this turmoil incident to being an impresario with both white and black talent, he has opened with "A Rhapsody in Black," starring Ethel Waters and featuring Valada Snow, Blue McAllister, Cecil Mack's (C. C. McPherson) choir and Pike Davis orchestra at the Belasco Theatre in this city, preliminary to going to Broadway.

If the show is just fifty per cent of what Washington critics have enthusiastically declared it to be, the Negro thespians are in for another long running vehicle on the big street that is ultimate in show business.

Famous Cornetist In Extortion Plot

CHICAGO, April 25. (ANP) Louis Armstrong, popular and nationally known cornetist, broke into the news again Saturday when Milton Weil, white music publisher and song writer, and Joe Fiore and Emmett Ryan, two white hoodlums, were arrested on charges of attempting to force Armstrong to give them one thousand dollars.

The white men were arrested on a warrant sworn out by John Collins, Armstrong's manager. Collins said that Weil is part owner of Coffee Dan's cabaret where Armstrong was employed several weeks ago. Recently the cornetist was booked by the Show Boat, a rival establishment. Weil is alleged to have introduced the hoodlums to Armstrong, and they demanded the money from him.

Smith University which is host this year to the annual tennis tournament of the colleges which are members of the C. I. A. A. Last year Hampton Institute won the singles championship and the title in doubles went to Union University of Richmond, Va.

KEPT HUSBANDS AT THE INDIANA

Before giving you a synopsis of pictures at the Indiana next week, I want to thank the general public for hearty response to our first run pictures and new sound device. Indiana will continue to show you only the best.—JIMMY HILL.

The latest drama of modern marriage to reach the screen untold a novel treatment of the theme. This one is called "Kept Husband" and stars Dorothy Mackall and Joel McCrea.

It is a splendidly acted film of a problem which, judging by the audience response, troubles a good many of both sexes today. The problem of the rich wife and the poor husband, and never the twain shall meet, is cleverly told in "Kept Husbands," and offers, besides good drama, a thoroughly satisfying and surprising answer to the question.

In addition to "Kept Husbands," another feature will be shown, "Captain Applejack." "Captain Applejack" the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production will be shown at the Indiana Theatre. It is acclaimed as the most amusing picture of the year. It has to do with the adventures of a wild man who yearned for adventure and got more than he bargained for.

Both these features will be shown at the JIMMIE HILL'S INDIANA THEATRE Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, April 26, 27 and 28.

Join the mighty throng at the INDIANA.

NEGROES OUT OF WORK.

IN ANY CONSIDERATION of the general problem of unemployment the Negro is apt to be forgotten. It is assumed that inevitably a large number of Negroes are out of a job; it remains for a sober, unhysterical organization like the National Urban League to come forward and show that the percentage of Negroes among the unemployed runs sometimes four, five, or six times as high as their population percentage warrants. This is especially true, of course, in the industrial areas, and a careful study of the question indicates that the percentage of Negro unemployed runs higher in the Northern industrial centers where the Negro is limited to unskilled occupations, where he is in fact the marginal worker.

The preponderance of Negro unemployed is due in a number of causes. Obviously, in almost any community, when jobs are scarce preference is given to the white worker in case of a vacancy; but worse than this, a fairly widespread tendency is observed to replace Negro workers with white. White girls have replaced Negro waiters, hotel workers, elevator operators, of course at reduced wages; Filipinos have replaced Negro men under the same conditions. In the drought-affected areas of the Southwest Negroes, stripped of their livelihood have drifted to the cities—and found nothing there. Finally, there is considerable evidence that in the job specially created to ameliorate the difficulties of the depression—for example, in public works—Negroes find it much harder to get work than do whites.

The Urban League investigation discloses specifically figures for various cities that are to say the least startling. Akron, Ohio, reports 4.5 per cent of the population to be Negroes and 25 per cent of the relief cases; Baltimore, for the same relationship, reports 17 and 34 per cent respectively; Des Moines, Iowa, reports 4 per cent of the population Negroes and 25 per cent Negroes of the total unemployed; Houston, Texas, for the same relation, reports 25 and 50 per cent respectively. Englewood, New Jersey, stands at the bottom of the list with 18 per cent of the population Negroes and 92 per cent Negroes of the relief cases reported! And St. Louis, Missouri, is a close second with 9 per cent of the population Negroes, 66 per cent Negroes of the total unemployed, and 60 per cent Negroes of the families needing and receiving relief.

Here and there conditions are reported to be improving slightly. Scranton notes an improvement over last year, with only about one-tenth of its Negro population unemployed; Dayton reports that in December 50 per cent of those persons aided by welfare organizations were Negroes and in February only 38 per cent; for some reason Madison, Wisconsin, shows little workers' paradise by reporting briefly that State work is available for any citizen regardless of race or color. But in the main the plight of the Negro is a sore one and it is getting worse, if anything, instead of better. Measures of relief, according to the investigation, are confined almost entirely to charity, and Negroes get more charity but fewer jobs than do whites. The economic structure of the Negro race, as a result, is in an alarming state of threatened disintegration. The effect of such a disintegration upon the whites is obvious, and the unsettled state of the color question is reflected in the increased number of lynchings. If we are not careful, the present economic depression will put the solution of the Negro problem back many years.

TUSKEGEE'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE THIS week celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Booker T. Washington. There have been visitors present from every section of the United States and its guests have been some of the most distinguished men and women of the country.

It was in July, 1881, that Booker T. Washington went to the little town of Tuskegee in Alabama to open a school for his race. White and colored citizens had written General Armstrong, Principal of Hampton Institute, to send them a Principal for this Institute for Negroes they were opening. General Armstrong recommended and set Booker T. Washington, a graduate of Hampton, who remained at Tuskegee from the day he went there in 1881 until the day of his death.

Mr. Washington upon his arrival there found the Institute to consist of a few more than thirty students, and the buildings for school purposes to consist of an old church and a wooden shed so dilapidated that, when it rained, one of the older students had to hold an umbrella over him as he taught the classes.

Mr. Washington made the school one of the most outstanding schools of its type in the nation, if not in the world. One must go to Tuskegee to appreciate the magnitude of Tuskegee Institute and to see what has been largely the work of one man, for though many aided in the development, Tuskegee Institute is to a great extent the result of the genius and effort of Booker T. Washington.—C. W. C.

HOMELY PHILOSOPHY

CONQUERING FAILURE.

IN YOUTH ALL men dream bright rosy dreams for the future. They start out with quick light steps toward the consummation of their ideals. But soon handicaps and misfortunes throw shadows across the path and progress grows slower. Some difficulties are easily overcome, but the most formidable are doubt and fear—conquer these and you conquer failure.

CRUISING AROUND

By LEE JAY MARTIN

Many have been the compliments of the column's Easter Ball write up. Especially loud in his praise was Mr. Harry McWilliams, the old man in the "Old Rocking Chair." The column fully appreciates these words of praise and laments the fact that there is not an "Easter Ball" to write about every week.

Great men walk among us, but we see their greatness not, until the God above calls them to their reward. The only reason a great number of people from the various parts of the earth knew there was an Indianapolis, Ind., was because the late Bishop G. T. Haywood resided here. This world-wide figure has passed from our midst and his greatest glory brighter than in the days he walked among us.

Working in the interest of their church, the Bishop and Mr. George Cable took a long earthly journey together. The late Mr. Cable returned home, only to take his last long journey. Now Bishop Haywood follows him on that journey. A peculiar coincidence, very peculiar, but God knows best.

Ten thousand persons attend a trial in Scottsboro, Ala., while the State Militia maintain perfect order. Whether the eight men who were sentenced to death on the charge of rape are guilty or not, the protection from the mob given them by the state is to be recognized. The boys could have committed the act of rape, yet not be guilty of rape—a box car is a mighty big thing, and a train is very attractive.

The place was brilliantly lighted and the shadow panes, as General James T. Raine brought his super-six to a stop in front of the beautiful home of Alpha Court of Shelbyville, Indiana, the little city with big citizens.

A pleasant lady with a face of welcome, met us at the door and assisted us in resting our coats. Having had a glance at that long banquet table, it did not take us long to rid ourselves of all excess weight, for we could hardly wait for our chance at that table.

The dining room was attractively decorated, most outstanding of the decorations were artistically flowered, need-not-stretching, window curtains, something new to me in window draperies. As the women will have to keep them clean, it was no doubt a woman's idea.

However, I was more concerned about that heaping plate of delicious food setting before me. Boneless chicken, potatoes mashed in butter, creamed peas, real ice cream that you could see as well as feel, sweet chocolate layer cake, tomorrow's coffee, and hot rolls good to the last bite.

Honorable S. C. Pritchett, wanted a rebate. He claimed he paid for two meals and only ate one; but the waiter politely informed him that he had served extra rolls to the amount of the rebate. Mr. Pritchett asked where were the extra rolls. "Mr. Martin ate them," the waiter replied. "I might have known, signed Mr. Pritchett, as he saw his rebate chances going down.

Mrs. Gertrude Johnson and her corp of efficient cooks, should have no trouble in keeping their husbands home, especially at meal times. When better cooking is done, Shelbyville women will do it.

Mr. James Reeves, grand trustee and chancellor commander of Pride of Shelbyville Lodge Knights of Pythias, one of the city's leading business men, was in charge of the excellent program, which was rendered.

Grand Chancellor C. W. Winburn, of Kokomo, made a fine talk praising the Shelbyville Pythians to the highest for success in obtaining their beautiful new home. Mrs. Julia Reed, grand worthy chancellor of the Calanthians also praised the new home and especially the efforts put forward by the women to obtain it.

Bedtime Story

THE WONDERFUL PORRIDGE

Pot.

There was once a little girl who lived all alone with her mother, and they were so poor that they had nothing to eat. So the child went out in the world to try and find some food for her mother. As she went along, she met a very old woman, and the old woman gave her a little, iron porridge pot which she had been carrying under her apron.

"You must say to it: 'Little pot, boil,'" said the old woman, and it will boil sweet porridge for you, and when you say to it: "Little pot, stop, then it will stop boiling."

So the child took the pot home to her mother, and she set it on the table, and said to it: "Little pot, boil." It set about boiling at once, and they had all the food they needed for a great many days. But one day, when the little girl was gone out, the mother thought she would say: "Little pot, boil."

Well the porridge pot boiled and bubbled away until it was quite full, and then the mother wished to stop boiling, but she had forgotten what to say. So the little porridge pot just kept right on boiling and bubbling and boiling, and spilling over, until the kitchen table was covered with porridge, and then the kitchen was full, and next, the whole house was full.

The mother had to pick up her skirts and run for her life, and the porridge poured out the door, and down the road, and into other people's kitchens, enough to feed the whole town. And still no one was able to stop it.

At last there was only one house left in the whole town that was not full of porridge, and that was the house where the little girl had gone. When she saw the stream of porridge coming, and all the people running, she called out, loudly: "Little pot, stop!" And, of course, the little pot stopped boiling porridge at once; but all the people had to eat their way back to their houses again.

Voice of the People

TAKES CRITIC TO TASK.

In this column of last week's issue of The Indianapolis Recorder a citizen attempts to attract to himself some note by attacking F. E. DeFrantz, executive secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association.

It is not strange that this thing should be, for many small fish can only survive by sticking their fins into whatever might be closest to them. The writer stated that he was not criticizing the Y. M. C. A. as an institution nor the things for which it stands, but thinks there is something wrong with its leader when he refuses to encourage the youth of our city the way he should. However, he evidently did not have enough gray matter to state any way that the leader might encourage the youth, but offers an instance of a young boy who did not succeed in selling a couple pieces of candy to the institution. By the way, he says the boy was a student of Attucks; why mention Attucks? This, to my mind, the writer did to create sympathy from the public as if this Kirkpatrick visited relatives in Nolene, Kentucky, last week. They were accompanied home by Mrs. James Kirkpatrick, who had been visiting in Louisville, Kentucky. Mrs. Daisy Holder, Indianapolis, has returned home after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Hubbard. Mrs. Hubbard remains ill. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Smith and daughter, Indianapolis, were here Sunday. Miss Elizabeth Foree visited her parents in Madison the week end. Miss Annabelle Gooden, Edinburg, spent the week end here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gooden. James Johnson and Herbert Hogue were in Indianapolis, Sunday. Franklin and Thomas Williams, Raymond Ray, Pernel Coleman, Indianapolis, were here Sunday. Mrs. Flora Bolden and sister Mildred Handy, Shelbyville, were here last week. Miss Rose Anna Dunn, Ralph Burris and Daniel Clark, visited Miss Norene Richey, Saturday. Miss Mattie Pennebaker and Messrs. Anderson Pennebaker and Chester Peak, spent the week end in Dayton. They were accompanied home by Miss Margaret Pennebaker.

The writer goes further to relate the incident of the Secretary throwing away the list as if he did it for spite, all which was unnecessary to mention. Any one knows that a man as busy as DeFrantz might lose so small a thing as a candy list in an office as busy as the executive office at the Y. M. C. A.

You should remember that only a few days ago you went about the "selling candy" and it was this man you call the "Czar" whom aided you in many ways in days past.

The writer spoke of the Uncle Tom type and of gaining recognition among other races. Everybody knows F. E. DeFrantz and no other man, white or black, is perfect,—but this may be said of DeFrantz notwithstanding his faults he has done a marvelous work in the community in his field and has the respect of thousands of citizens white and black, who never even heard of George Hardin until he sought publicity by airing his personal grievances against one whom he has made several attempts to breach socially.

The "Y" Man did speak of the Y. M. C. A. Employment Department which work is not originally, "Y" work, but that is not all; there are more than sixty-five men sleeping each night at the "Y" without cost. Through DeFrantz this and many other things too numerous to mention have been achieved, yet Hardin chooses to call him the Uncle Tom type. Hardin, you should investigate thoroughly both the institution and its leader before turning in such an assinine article.

Success depends largely upon preparation and common-sense, rather than encouragement, which is so obviously lacking in our friend who signs his name from 1849 Fullenwider.

I really don't know which is the better to deal with, the "Uncle Tom" type or the "Tom Thumb" type.

FIFTY YEARS OF TUSKEGEE

Booker T. Washington and Tuskegee Institute are connotative. Tuskegee without Booker T. Washington would rank with a half-hundred lazy Alabama towns with Indian names. On the other hand, Booker T. Washington without the coefficient of Tuskegee would have no charm and spell whatever to conjure. Booker T. Washington of Tuskegee is the proper appellation. He is by all odds the greatest race statesman that has grown out of his variety of the species in the United States. If we define a statesman as one who has the genius to devise a policy, the persuasiveness to make it acceptable, and the power to impress it upon the people as a working philosophy—then the wizard of Tuskegee well fits and fulfills that definition. The application of education to ten-fingered workers was something new under the educational sun. Armstrong planted this seed—Booker T. Washington watered and gave the increase. This became the dominant educational policy—not only for the Negro, but for the nation for half a generation.

Booker T. Washington also became the accepted statesman and spokesman for the race to a degree that no other colored man has yet attained. The religious, political, economic, industrial and social leaders awaited his word before adopting or applying any plan or policy to the colored race. It made no difference who was in the White House—whether Roosevelt, Taft, or Wilson, his advice and counsel were sought, considered and usually accepted. It is not certain that Booker Washington ever voted in his life, and yet he wielded greater political power than any Negro before or since his time. The Negro's present lamentable political impotency is due to lack of efficient and effective leadership.

The impulse which Booker Washington imparted to Tuskegee has been imbibed and carried forward by his spiritual son Dr. R. R. Moton. It is all but marvelous with what tact, skill and success he carries out and carries up the work of his illustrious predecessor. No Negro in our history has ever been required to undergo the stress and strain of basic manhood imposed upon this man, in a most acute and critical situation. Local white sentiment rose up in its united might and demanded a white personnel of the Tuskegee Hospital. This solitary black man was pitted against the local white sentiment upon whose sufrance the perpetuity of the institution depended. There he stood like Luther at Worms. His good sense, sanity and sagacious courage saved him whole. He did not fret or rage or fume, but stood silent and steadfast in the unshakable integrity of his position. He placed his life in pawn to a principle. He won. The basic idea of Tuskegee triumphed—Negro leadership in purely Negro affairs. Thus he has earned the unstinted praise and everlasting thanks of his race.

Dr. Moton has had another great test of his educational statesmanship. The doctrine of industrial education for ten-fingered workers was greatly discounted by World War and its aftermath. Henry Ford and modern machinery made such education of greatly diminished value. Hampton and Tuskegee must needs readjust their program while preserving the fundamental principle and spirit. Under Dr. Moton's skillful guidance this transition is being wisely accomplished. Tuskegee and Hampton have become colleges as well as industrial schools. One might shortly expect to see a great medical college grow up about the Tuskegee Hospital, the greatest institution of its kind in the world under Negro managerial and medical skill.

The adaptable genius of Hampton and Tuskegee will shortly have to be shared by all of our higher schools of learning. At present there is no adequate policy or program—More insistence on the older curriculum and methods will not meet modern demands upon the Negro College to produce an adequately equipped and inspired leadership for the Negro people in their economic, industrial, political, cultural and social needs. In this urgent requirement we may confidently look to Hampton and Tuskegee, as well as to Howard, Fisk and Lincoln to meet the new demand.

All eyes are now turned Tuskegeewards. This great institution stands as the monument of Booker T. Washington, the illustrious founder, and of R. R. Moton, his worthy successor.

N. A. A. C. P. ACTIVITIES.

The Indiana State Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, through its president Mrs. W. T. Bailey, has issued a call for a meeting of its board of directors to be held in Kokomo Sunday. Added to this is the fact that the annual financial drive of the organization is now in full swing. It is to be hoped that to the campaign will accrue the great results to which it is fully entitled. The National Association with its vast amount of influence for good is a logical champion of the constitutional rights of our people. As such, it should be regarded by our racial group as the only effective instrument of needed representation. It is very desirable that its executive body find time to attend the Sunday conference. To do so would be to avoid the unpardonable act of blocking the success of the conference.

The questions to be discussed at the meeting are of the highest significance. This much is clearly indicated in the spirit of the call letters sent out to the members of the board throughout Indiana. The continued very significant accomplishments of the organization in line with its noble mission, is, to say the least, refreshingly commendable. The merest school boy is cognizant of that fact. A circumstance that should not only command serious attention, but should enlist the undivided support of every right thinking colored man and woman in the United States of America.

That the organization is and has always been since its incipency a vitally necessary institution goes without saying. It is now a pretty substantially established fact that the very salvation of our racial group depends largely upon the extent to which the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People succeeds in making its legitimate influence felt throughout the nation. That being the case it behooves our people to rally to its standard to a man. In this connection be it said that every co-operation should be afforded its representatives everywhere. No greater service could be relegated to the cause of our people's just aspirations, than to strengthen the functions of the National Association to the extent of swelling its membership to hitherto unheard of proportions. The time has come when this must be done. Needless to say it is infinitely essential that every man and woman capable of doing so should join the ranks of the National organization.

Standing as it has always stood as a watch tower for the best interest of the race and humanity, it is entitled to a far vaster enrollment of members throughout the land. But for the fearless activities of this American organization countless injustices meted out to our people in every section of the country would not have been exposed. Numerous righting of wrongs would not have been effected. The organization continues to function with dignified success. It is steadily gaining ground in heretofore so-called forbidden territory. It is attracting respect and even support from individuals considered not many years back as irreconcilable enemies. It has never been found wanting; it is measuring up fully to what is expected of it as an organization "OF THE PEOPLE, BY THE PEOPLE" and "FOR THE PEOPLE."

The National Association must continue to serve its high purposes. To do so it must grow in membership. Our people must support it to the full extent of their ability. Its board of directors meeting at Kokomo Sunday must register a one hundred per cent attendance.

IMPRISON THE RASCALS.

EX-PRESIDENT KING, FORMER members of his cabinet and his appointees numbering some thirty-five in all are now on trial for murder, or enslavement of natives or other irregularities as a result of the recent expose of slavery by an international commission.

Only extreme pressure on the part of Secretary Stimson and the United States has made this possible. In doing this Secretary Stimson could not help arousing the opposition and the hatred of the former Liberian administration and all its friends.

The West African Republic is at the crossroads. It can go up and down. It can give King and his slave trading cohorts a long term in the penitentiary and can elect in their places upstanding men like Mr. Thomas J. R. Faulkner, or it can follow the old trail of graft, mistreatment of natives, and maladministration.

If the best people of Liberia ever expect to rule now is their chance.

In Mr. Bell's address to the members, he said: "I hate to leave the 'class,' for, since I connected myself with this organization, I have enjoyed the pleasures of true brotherhood, but duty calls and I must go."

FANNIE LOU

Dear Fanny Lou:

I am a girl nineteen years old and I feel like I am fifty. I have four sisters under me and also my mother who is a widow. I had to stop school just at the end of my High School career to go to work and help support the rest of the family. I do not mind having to do this only I am so unhappy. My sisters are nasty to me and my mother instead of correcting them seeks to uphold them in it. It makes it hard for me and it also makes me feel I am the slave of the family. It seems I am the "good thing," as the saying goes, I am so unhappy, sometimes I feel I want to run off or leave home. What must I do Fanny Lou?

—M. P.

Indeed it is to bad you must put up with such conditions at the place you should feel is "good old home." Many parents make a terrible mistake in the way they act towards their children.

One of the worse impressions a parent can make on a child is when there are more than one child in a family and difference is shown in the treatment of them. As for your condition, it would not be wise to run off or leave in an angry passion; but if in some distant city or town, you had a relative you could go to, you could do that, get a job and send your mother part of your earnings each week. You could still be doing your duty and then be in peace. Home troubles are the worse troubles there are, because you must contend with them more constantly than any other. Take my advice, and above all don't get disgusted with life because something real good is in store for you.

P. S.—Anyone desiring to ask Fanny Lou questions may address envelope to Fanny Lou in care of The Indianapolis Recorder, 518 Indiana Ave.

HEAR—SAYS

Last week we let our imagination carry us back to our elementary school days. In the upper grades we also heard interesting things from our teachers and memorized different phrases. How we used to dread to study "Idylls of the King," yet as we grew older we appreciated the beautiful expressions used in them. It made us feel the greatness of Van Dyke. Do you remember the beautiful Idyll, "Gareth and Lynette?" Let's recall the beautiful words to the song Lynette sang:

"O morning star" (not that tall felon there
Whom than by sorcery or unhappiness
Or some device, hath foully overthrown),
"O morning star that smildest in the blue,
O star, my morning dream hath proven true,
Smile sweetly, thou! My love hath smiled on me."

Then in the Idyll, "Lancelot and Elaine," which was the most romantic, the song Elaine made was so deep and yet beautiful also, telling of true love in the days of brave knights and days of old. Something like this:

And in those days she made a little song,
And call'd her song 'The Song of Love and Death,'
And sang it: sweetly could she make and sing.

'Sweet is true love tho' given in vain, in vain;
...and sweat is death who puts an end to pain:
I know not which is sweeter, no, not I.

'Love, art thou sweet? then bitter death must be
Love, thou art bitter; sweet is death to me.
O Love, if death be sweeter, let me die.

Well, isn't it surprising to note the change in the weather? It seems after all, "The North wind will prove stronger than the sun," because during this cool spell everyone feels like pulling their coats closer to them instead of taking them off.

Ah! You remember cupid told us we would soon know whose hearts he peirced this Spring? Well, there are two more announcements for you. Guess who? Suppose you heard about Shannon Bell's good luck. It is true his Pledge-Brothers and friends will miss him, but it is a worthy call and he must answer it. Success to you, Bell. Drop us a line once in a while.

It was also revealed in the sermon that because of Bishop Haywood's insatiable thirst for more work he had always met his congregation's many advices to rest up with the simple but little understood assertion "YOU DO NOT UNDERSTAND."

Concluding Bishop Hancock said: "Brother Haywood was a living example which we shall follow as long as we live. His life was one of ups and downs twenty-five years.

"We have lost a man that was a monument to righteousness; that, no man can question. A life of purity that the world cannot deny. He gave his life for you and me—for the Gospel. He gave up his children for you and for me and for the Gospel of Jesus Christ."

Other Bishops Spoke

Burial was in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Bishop Haywood Lauded

rotten eggs, tomatoes, rocks and tin cans were thrown—all this simply because he stood firmly for what he believed to be the truth.

No one can ever say Bishop Haywood started something new (though not new) because of gain or desire for worldly honor—no; for in those early days the church was humble indeed. Bishop Haywood was not only the pastor, but he was the janitor, too. He opened the church doors, made fires, cleaned, made seats and at close of services closed the church doors. He counted himself as nothing. His one object was to serve God and to know the truth.

Never Spoke Of Needs.

For these things we love him. We remember that there was a time when for the truth's sake he wore paper in his shoes to keep them dry, when he fasted because there was no bread in the house, when he wore mended second-hand clothes and thanked God for them. In all these privations he looked to God and not to man. He never spoke of his own nor his family's need. If God did not supply, he did without. He was seeking to know the truth. For Jesus had said: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you."

The way by which he led his followers was the way of faith and it was a way he had tested and tried himself.

Christianity was not a matter of theory to him. It was life itself. He believed Jesus meant what he said when he told his disciples that "Man shall not live by bread alone but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." And because people knew that he lived the truth, they believed that which he preached and taught.

Loved By Both Races.
That was the secret of his success. That was why God blessed him; and that is why hundreds of people, both black and white, all over the United States today call him their father in the faith. His was a father's heart, tender and compassionate. When he preached under the anointing of the Holy Spirit, love seemed to radiate from him and transfigure his face. Day and night he was at the service of his children in the Gospel. He gave himself freely and without stint.

Bishop Haywood loved to preach and teach. He was never happier than when he was explaining the scriptures to eager men and women. He seemed never to tire of it. He was not content with two services on Sunday and a mid-week service. He believed the house of God should be open always and the bread of life broken continuously to those "who hunger and thirst after righteousness."

He held services every night of the week but one. There were Bible Readings two afternoons a week and prayer meetings during the day. He felt that it was impossible to know too much of "thus saith the Lord," and he desired to stir up our minds by way remembrance that we might be mindful of the words which were spoken by the holy prophets and of the commandments of the Lord our Saviour; that we be not forgetful hearers but doers of the word.

Was A Busy Man

Bishop Haywood was a busy man yet he found time to read extensively. He subscribed to a number of many magazines on current topics. He liked to know what the world was doing and what it was thinking. He also liked to know what men were thinking along religious lines, both pro and con. He believed in seeing a question from all angles. For other recreation he drew or painted.

Retiring Disposition.

Numerous people from all over the country came to Bishop Haywood's home. They came to get acquainted with the man who had helped and encouraged them through his writings or to get help on puzzling questions. To all he showed an open-handed hospitality. Yet, with all of his contact with people, his public speaking and his much travelling, Bishop Haywood was a very modest man, and of a retiring disposition. He had little to say in personal conversation. He made a good listener. He was a man with whom it was rather hard to get into close touch, except along spiritual lines. Between himself and people he seemed to place a barrier that was rather difficult to break over. It was not coldness, but a rather strange aloofness of which he, himself, did not seem conscious. One felt drawn to him and a desire to know him better and was yet held back. He was a very affectionate man to his family and was only truly happy when they were around him.

Dr. O. E. Kelly, evangelist of Michigan, is conducting a series of meetings in interest of local Baptist churches.

Dr. Kelly, who is more familiarly known as the "Black K. Wonder of the world," reports that his programs, the first of which came to a close at the Metropolitan Baptist Church Sunday, April 12, are meeting with great success. The doctor is preaching to large audiences this week at the New Bethel Baptist Church, Fifteenth and Arsenal Avenue. Dr. Kelly, who is a good talker and pleasant to meet is extending to the general public a cordial invitation to attend the meetings.
